- Start/end on time.
- Do not interrupt others.
- Co-chairs ensure everyone has the opportunity for input, including on motions.
- As members we will do our homework, if at all possible. For example, we will read minutes prior to meeting.
- Refrain from side discussions
- Members will conduct themselves in ways that are conducive to productivity.
- "Acro-knock": any participant may knock on the table (or other equivalent during virtual meetings) to signal a request for a definition of an acronym or jargon-term.

Additional Virtual Guidelines

- Say your name before you speak.
- Raise your virtual hand or physical hand to get co-chairs' attention when you have a comment/question.
- Members are encouraged to participate in remote ways including chat, icons, etc.
