There was also an AAC funding presentation by Abygail Marx. All sessions are recorded and available on the DPI website. An AT Guidebook is also in the works.
- Debra Rimmel from DVR shared that referrals for services are still lower than expected and that there is funding for services and please consider encouraging referrals to her agency. Laura Plummer presented at the AsTech group earlier this month and the group will be meeting at Independence First for the next meeting.
- Shar Bruner reporting for the Independent Living Centers shared that Independent Living Resources is in the process of an IT upgrade that will increase capacity for virtual services. There is a local organization working to establish a pediatric used equipment program. CILWW did an overhaul of their AT room which included dividing equipment up by federal equipment category. indiGo has moved their loan closet to a new space and will be holding their ADA event again this year. Access to Independence has completed one half of the 10 week gaming group for youth with disabilities.

Shar brought up concerns that the ILCs have shared regarding the length of loans and the delay in TAP copayments. Discussion regarding open-ended loans occurred. With that and the previous understaffing that we’re still catching up from, our waiting list in the Communication Aids & Systems Clinic (CASC) has gone up to about 18 months.

Our ECHO AAC virtual learning community will have new sessions on the first Wednesdays of March, April, and May from 3:30-5:30 pm. If anyone is interested in joining this free web-based learning community for Augmentative & Alternative Communication (AAC), they can email echoaac@waisman.wisc.edu to get onto our mailing list to receive the Zoom invites for each month.”

- Calvin from Options for Independent Living shared information about the recent Sled Hockey clinic that they hosted and which was spotlighted on the local NBC channel. An individual in that area is looking to sponsor an entire team and he is working with Alex from Midstate to develop more

Wisconsin teams so that people do not have to travel to other states for competitions. Options received another $25K grant and has purchased a Freedom track device. The Give Big Green Bay fundraiser is coming up and last year they received $23,000. \

Other plans in the works include DME collection drives, periodic gaming gatherings, open gym, and basketball time. He still serves on the DNR advisory council and they are looking for more representation from the northern and western areas of Wisconsin. \.
