3. Prehospital blood administration through the emergency department (Informational/Discussion)
Key take-a-ways:
 - Working with quality department on MTP evaluation
 - Calcium is addressed through MTP
 - Working on bringing whole blood north
 - Hand-off is key, as with any patient, ensure you listen to blood product type
 - Ensure hospital policies match EMS programs protocols, especially around taking blood bag, tubing, and paperwork down to blood bank.
 - EMS can have partnership with hospitals or with blood distributors in area
 - For O+ blood for women of child bearing age, it is recommended for them to follow up with OB prior to a pregnancy, may be an opportunity for outreach to OBs to ensure there is a solid process that is not patient dependent
